

WOODEN FOREIGN BODY IN NASAL CAVITY: AN UNUSUAL CASE REPORT

*

Subrat K. Behera, Girija S.Mohanta, Pitabas Nayak

Date of receipt of article -22-02-.2017

Date of acceptance – 30-02-.2017

DOI- 10.21176/ojohlms.2017.11.1.10

DOI URL- <https://doi.org/10.21176/ojohlms.2017.11.1.10>

HOW TO CITE THIS ARTICLE

Behera Subrat K, Mohanta Girija S, Nayak Pitabas. Wooden foreign body in nasal cavity: an unusual case report. Orissa J Otolaryngology Head Neck Surgery 2017 June; 11(1): 57-59. DOI: 10.21176/ ojohlms.2017.11.1.10

ABSTRACT:

Introduction: Nasal foreign bodies are more commonly encountered in pediatric age group. If an adult comes with excoriation of nasal dorsum skin or non healing ulcer and have history of fall or road traffic accident, a thorough clinical examination and diagnostic procedure is required to establish the diagnosis, skilled technique may be required for removal.

Conclusion: Here we present a case of wooden object in the nose which is a rare of its kind in adult.

Keywords: Wooden foreign body, Nasal cavity.